Description

Located on the edge of the forest beside a small stream, Chalet Le Ruisseau offers easy access to the slopes. Good skiers can return to the chalet via the le Raffort piste. Built in typical Savoyard style, the chalet offers a traditional mountain retreat with six comfortable bedrooms.

The chalet's ground floor entrance houses a ski room with boot warmers and plenty of storage. Heading upstairs you will find an inviting living room with a fireplace made from wood and stone and two leather corner sofas to relax on. Adjacent to the living room is a kitchen with a traditional wooden farmhouse table seating 14. The living room opens directly onto a south and west-facing deck with beautiful mountain views.
After skiing you can relax in the spa bath or head to the small mazot which houses a sauna and Nordic barbecue with table and benches.

On the top floor is a cosy TV room, set between two bedrooms, which is a perfect spot for children to hang out.

Chalet Le Ruisseau is able to accommodate 10 adults and four children across its six bedrooms. Four double en-suite bedrooms are located on the second floor. A further two bedrooms, which share a bathroom on the lower level, are situated on the third floor. One of these bedrooms is a dorm room ideal for four children. Other features of the chalet include a garage and laundry area.
